

Proyecto Árbol Generoso: X-Mas Packages 2023

Last year was our first annual X-mas package delivery. We were able to work with the school of Dominical. In the end, a total of 33 kids were able to open a present wrapped just for them.

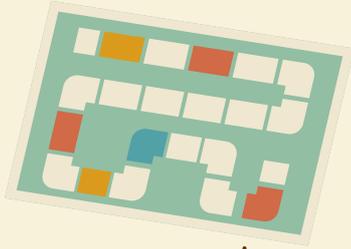

This year we decided to add seven (7) more schools and now have 161 kids participating!

With the addition of these schools and 100+ kids we realized there had to be a better way to go about this - so we are in the process of starting a non-profit and are asking for help from friends, family and beyond to donate to this project.

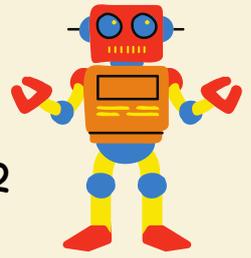

It is our profound hope to start working with more schools each year, eventually reaching our goal of giving 500 kids something wrapped just for them.

Christmas Packages

These packages are given to the children of our participating schools as a congratulations for completing another school year alongside keeping the holidays special.

Proyecto Árbol Generoso:

Back to School Packages 2024

Before jumping into our back to school project we want to give you some details about the areas we serve:

Being in a rural area does not lend itself to having much statistical data via government census of any sort. But based on the best that we can gather the adult population of Hatillo ranges anywhere from 200-250 with Baru and Dominical having an even smaller range of 100-150 in each town.

Though primary school is mandatory in Costa Rica, there are plenty of families in our area that do not require their child to go to school in preference to them starting work and/or helping around the house before primary school is over.

While we do not believe that by offering these kids a backpack full of their school essentials will ensure attendance, good grades or focus in class, we do believe that it will reduce the financial barrier they and their family may face about the cost of attending another year of primary school in the first place.

It is our sincere hope to eventually find our non-profit in a place where we can do more than just the basics and provide books, a portion of the cost for their school uniforms or help towards school lunches. But for now, we are grateful for the small strides and building relationships with these wonderful communities and their student bodies.

We are currently basing our back to school numbers off of the amount of kids that are participating in the X-mas packages, though the number may fluctuate some.
